Asunto: Acceptance of your submission to Energy Technology (ente.202100520R2) - [EMID:a4d0baffe5dfc5a0]

Dear Dr. Gonzalez-Landaeta,

Thank you for submitting your manuscript entitled "Battery-Less Power Management Circuit Powered by a Wearable Piezoelectric Energy Harvester" (Research Article, No. ente.202100520R2) to Energy Technology. The reviewer report and comments are included at the end of this e-mail.

I'm pleased to inform you that your manuscript has been accepted for publication without change.

The final version of your article can only be published once we have received a signed license agreement. You will soon receive an email invitation to register or log in to Wiley Author Services (<https://authorservices.wiley.com>). After logging into Wiley Author Services, please follow the on-screen instructions to sign the appropriate license agreement.

We will copyedit the accepted version of your manuscript and if we require any further information at this stage, we will contact you. After copyediting, your proofs will be prepared and instructions for returning your proof corrections will be provided when the proofs are sent to you.

Energy Technology publishes Accepted Articles on Wiley Online Library. To facilitate rapid dissemination of your work, the accepted version of your article will be published online before copyediting, typesetting, and proofreading. Any subsequent changes to your article will be made through the editing and proofing process, and will be reflected in the version of record when it is published online in EarlyView.

Congratulations on your results, and thank you for choosing Energy Technology for publishing your work. I hope you will consider us for the publication of your future manuscripts.

Yours sincerely,

Sai Kishore Ravi
